

ABSTRACT

The disclosure describes artificial chimeric transcription factors that include at least one zinc finger domains and that can regulate cellular differentiation, for example, a neuronal cell phenotype or an osteoblast phenotype.